Rescued from the Indians.

[Pittsburg Chronicle, Jan. 12.]

Yesterday afternoon a young girl aged about 17 years, arrived at the Union Depot by the Chicago express, on her way to relatives at Lockport. Her name is Lizzie Smith, and she has been captive to a tribe of the Sioux who live north of the Black Hills, for nearly nine years. Her father resided in Philadelphia and was engaged in a dry goods store. She and other members of the family were visiting in Western Iowa, when the Sioux raided the place, capturing her and others, and killing her little brother. She was taken to their hunting grounds and was, she says, treated well generally, but ill treated at times because of her inability to learn their language. Another girl, a year or two her senior, was captured with her, and the two, by conversing together, succeeded in retaining their knowledge of the English tongue. Her companion was a Miss Stewart, who was rescued at the same time and sent to her friends at Omaha. Miss Smith states that a party of five trappers discovered them some weeks since and persuaded them to make an escape. This they finally consented to do, and the party, stealing Indian ponies, left for the white man's country. They were pursued four days by the Sioux, but got off, and in time to reach Rock City, on the Union Pacific. There they were supplied with clothing by their rescuers, Messrs. Welsh, Wolf, Schwartz, Botmeyer and one whose name Miss Smith can not recall. The railway company passed her via Chicago, boarding her in transit, and treating her with the greatest kindness. The agent of the Pennsylvania railway did similarly here, and the young woman was sent to her uncle at Lockport, on the 4.30 train yesterday afternoon. Miss Smith has been so long with the Indians that she has acquired a few of their peculiarities, and to the reporter seemed to have some of the prominent features of the savages. She is intelligent, considering her disadvantages, and quite prepossessing in her appearance, notwithstanding her bronzed complexion.

SURPRISERS SURPRISED.—As Chas. Mules and wife were at their home, 118 North Pine street, Tuesday evening, the door was opened in answer to a knock, when in rushed pell mell twenty masqueraders in the most grotesque and horrible costumes possible to imagine. Mrs. Mules was seated with a child upon her lap. The little one became frightened, screamed, and the mother, who recognized among the masqueraders many of her most intimate friends, male and female, vainly endeavored to quiet it. Mr. Mules owns an enormous Newfoundland dog, which at once bounded up stairs and made an attack upon the intruders. There is no record of any former panic where the means of egress were taken advantage of more quickly than on this occasion. In two and three-quarter seconds the house was clear, and Pine street for two blocks each way was filled with flying figures. A devil slipped on the ice as a harlequin ran over him, followed by a clown. A negro crawled on his hands and knees under the steps of an adjoining house, and other characters scattered in every direction. Mules says that if they ever get that party together again he will be glad to see them, and will chain up the "purp."—Baltimore Gazette.

The talent of turning men into ridicule and exposing to laughter those whom one converses with, is the gratification of little minds and ungenerous tempers. A young man with this cast of mind cuts himself off from all manner of improvement.

A DREAM.—A Eurekan dreamed that he died and went straight to the spirit world. On reaching his destination he realized that the aspect of the place differed from what his conduct during life had led him to expect. The climate was temperate, and no smell of brimstone permeated the air. On the contrary, the groves and fields were delightful; flowers bloomed in profusion, and the songs of birds made the air musical; fruits of all varieties hung from the branches of the trees, and graceful animals bounded in sportive play on every side. Wandering along a well-beaten path he finally brought up in front of a building that looked very familiar to him, and if he had been back on earth he would not have hesitated to have pronounced it a saloon. Entering, he found himself in a well-ordered bar, the bottles filled with liquors and labeled brandy, whiskey, etc. Here was a chance to quench a thirst that had been tormenting him; he grasped a bottle and smelled the contents; the aroma of genuine bourbon greeted his nostrils, and congratulating himself on his good luck, he applied it to his lips, but alas, not a drop came forth, and such was the case with all of them. The situation dawned on his brain, and with a despairing glance at the decanters, he remarked, "well, this is hell!"—Eureka Sentinel.

THE SPRINGFIELD NIGHT GOWNS.—One of the luxuries of a bridal trousseau, made at one of our furnishing establishments, is a night robe, made in the form and with all the elaborateness of a mourning gown. The material is the sheerest linen lawn, cut in the princesse form and bordered with a straightway flounce, edged on both sides with German lace. The sleeves are coat shaped, and on the upper sides are made open by diagonal insertion of lace and wrought muslin. Upon the body, from the shoulder to the waist line, is a similar arrangement of insertions and lace, simulating lapels. About the neck is a standing collarette, formed of a full ruffle of lace, a broad insertion and a lace edge. In such diaphanous attire one might well be taken for Venus vailed by the morning mist.—Springfield Republican.

LOST IN THE SNOW.—A man named Jerry Driscoll left Jersey City in the southern part of this county, a-foot, during the severe snow storm. We learn from the Austin Reveille that he lost his way in the snow and wandered three days in the snow without food or shelter. He was finally found by a man named Slavon, and taken to Addington's station on the Battle Mountain and Austin road, where he received every possible attention. His feet being badly frozen it was decided to send him by stage to Austin for medical treatment. He is now in the Lander county hospital, and from his condition it is thought his feet will have to be amputated.—Silver State.

Mr. Duffy was apparently very much annoyed the other night when, as he was sneaking up the front stairs at two A. M., he was confronted by Mrs. Duffy, who demanded what he meant by coming home at that hour and in that condition. "Sh!" whispered Mr. Duffy, huskily, placing an unsteady finger on his lip. "Sh! Dons—hic—speak s'loud, Christmas night; I'm jusht play'n Shammy Claws t' fool—ch—hic—to foolch—ildren."—Burlington Hawkeye.

The Tax on Bullion Production.

The State of Nevada taxes the production of the mines and attempts to make this the principal source of her revenue. The collection of this tax is resisted by a considerable number of the mine owners. It is a tax, not on profits, but on gross production. The men who question the validity of such a tax are doing the public a good service.

There could be no legal objection to taxing the value of a mine. But the tax on the gross products is quite another thing. If the State of California were to levy a tax on the gross productions of the placer mines of this State, the payment would be resisted at once. Nevada is an unfortunate State in several particulars. It is most unfortunate in the financial necessity which compels it to resort to a measure which is neither just in principle nor politic for any State to adopt. It is unfortunate, also, in being overstocked with a class of small legislators, who think that a cardinal principle of political economy may be violated to meet the exigencies of an empty treasury.—S. F. Bulletin.

State Controller W. W. Hobart says in connection with the tax on the proceeds of the mines: "It would be manifestly unwise, if not unjust, for the State to levy such a burden of taxation on an industry on which depends its well-being and prosperity as would seriously discourage and repress it.

At the same time, with less than $3,000,000 worth of other property, with all the non-producing mining property entirely free from taxation under the Constitution, and with a State and fourteen county goverments to support, it connot be any great injustice to that interest to require it to bear some slight portion of the burden of their maintainance."

There are a number of other arguments why the proceeds of the mines should be taxed, but the manifest justice of such a tax is quite apparent to those rightly informed and who are unbiased in reference to this important tax.

The total receipts of the general fund for 1875-6 amounts to $565,144 75 The tax received from the proceeds of the mines is $205,750 84. The Bullion tax is resisted by the mine owners of the Con Virginia and California mines, who have not paid any tax since the end of the first quarter of last year. The U. S. Circuit Court has decided one case brought by a foreign stockholder, who refused to pay the tax in favor of the State. Other cases are now pending in the State courts. The law taxing the proceeds of mines went into effect Jan 1871, and the tax which it provides is not as the editor of the Bulletin says, on the gross proceeds of the mines but on their net yield.

The assessed value of real and personal property in Nevada for 1876 was $59,564,673 23. The gross yield of the mines during this period was $35,391,864 04, and the valuation on which taxes were levied on the net proceeds of the mines was $20,867,-535 86. Thus we see that the mining tax is on the net proceeds of the mines and is less than the real and personal property of the State. No one in Nevada, save a few mine owners, questions the justice of this tax, nor is it reasonable that the immense yield of the mines should not bear some slight portion of the burdens of State government. We cannot see wherein "the men who question the validity of such a tax" are "doing the public a good service. His allusion to the misfortunes of Nevada are very gratuitous. We only wish he had suggested some way whereby the Silver State might redeem herself from this unfortunate condition. We suppose, however, that we must plod along and pay our debts just as though he had said nothing, and in a similar manner to that of other States, including California. His reference to small legislators is refreshing considering that California has been treated by a number of preceding legislatures to the stupid and corrupt bills, etc., of several largely purchased legislative proceedings, e. g.: Poor Bennett, during Governor Haight's first term, saved by his vote a subsidy granting to the Southern Pacific Railroad an amount from Fresno county more than the assessed valuation of property in that county.

Further comment is unnecessary. The Bulletin should not show in too glaring a light the defects of a young and growing State. It is not kind in that journal to do so, and we might become discouraged and pay the bonanza kings of San Francisco, who make their money out of Nevada's mineral wealth, a bonus to further enrich themselves and the coffers of California, our State Government, of course, being a matter of trivial consideration.

Grant on the Electoral Bill.

A Washington telegram of yesterday says:

The President, in the message approving the Act providing for the count of the electoral vote, says he believes the bill gives assurance that the result of the election will be accepted without resistance from the supporters of the disappointed candidate, and that the highest officer shall not hold his place with a questioned title of right. The message also alludes to the imminent peril the country has escaped through the adoption of the Act.

He further declares that in no instance had the President of the Senate exercised the power of deciding disputed election returns in such a case as this, where the result is invoked in doubt. It is the duty of the law making power to provide in advance a lawful mode of settling the difficulty. One of the two candidates must have been elected, and it would be a deplorable sight to witness a controversy as to which should receive or hold the office. No party of citizens loving their country can sacrifice too much in preserving their country. True liberty and progress can only exist through cheerful obedience to the constitutional law. The bill is calculated to meet the present question. The country requires peace and harmony between all sections.

The above statements have a sound ring. They indicate that the President is a sound patriot at heart, and that the country has not wholly understood the hitherto silent man. It is refreshing to the mind and gladdening to the heart to read the words of public men who rise above party and speak in clear, bold terms for their country's good.

TELEGRAPHIC.

The Republican Senators were in caucus yesterday, and without coming to any conclusion, adjourned till 3 o'clock. The whole time was consumed in general discussion: First—Whether the passage of the Electoral bill was a Republican surrender; and second—whether the Republican members of the Commission should consist of advocates of the so-called "surrender," or of opponents of the bill.

The Democratic Senators may not have a caucus, as it seems understood that Thurman and Bayard will be selected to represent them in the Commission.

The Servian Government requests that the Ottoman Ambassador at Vienna enter into negotiations with the Servian diplomatic agent. They have no representative at Constantinople.

The Prince of Montenegro has not replied to the invitation to treat for peace directly with the Porte.

Politicians are now busy selecting the strongest party men to serve on the Electoral Commission. The merits and demerits of Morton, Conkling, Edmonds, Bayard, Thurman, Garfield, Hoar, Field, Knott, Hewett and others in the Senate and House, are being discussed. The Tribune says: "There must be no wrangling over the judgment; no attempt to set aside the verdict; no complaint by the adherents of the unsuccessful candidate that a President has been elected by violence or fraud. The country has agreed to submit this controversy to arbitration, and both sides must abide loyally by the result."

The President favors specie resumption next March instead of Jan. 1, '79.

South Carolina is enjoying another terrible race conflict. A Justice of the Peace, appointed by Chamberlain, has been shot in Darlington county. The negroes are terribly excited and war between the whites and blacks is imminent. The assassination was committed by negroes.

Moody and Sankey commenced work in Boston Sunday afternoon. Six thousand persons were present and some 10,000 turned away because of no more standing room in the new tabernacle.

Alexander H. Stevens died of pelvic neuralgia in Washington yesterday afternoon.

In the Senate Gordon spoke in favor of his resolution to support Hampton Governor. Banning introduced a bill into the House fixing the time for the regular meeting of Congress March 4 instead of the 1st Monday in December.

THE VIENNA LADIES' ORCHESTRA ARRESTED.—The San Francisco Chronicle has the following: Office McKenna, assisted by a posse of fellow-officers, made a raid on the Tivoli Garden, corner of Sutter and Stockton streets, and arrested the proprietor and thirteen women, most of them comprising the Vienna Ladies' Orchestra. The arrest is made on the ground that women have no right to be in a place where liquor is sold after 6 o'clock in the evening. The women were all attired in their orchestral dresses, and the procession created considerable interest as it wended the street in the rain.

STATE LIBRARY.—The State Library consists of about 12,000 volumes, mostly law books. It is a fine law library, having all the late law books and Supreme Court reports from all the States of the Union. The miscellaneous collection, while small, is nevertheless well selected. The library fund amounts to nearly $10,000 a year.

An authoritative count during the past twenty years shows that twelve theaters have been burnt down, and in the same period of time, 220 churches. The total loss of life, directly and indirectly caused by fire in theaters in that time, proves to be 336, of which 294 were in one theater. The total loss of life in churches, caused in the same way, has been 1,347, of which 640 were in one church.

AN informal election by the taxpayers residing within the proposed corporate limits of Reno, for the purposes above mentioned, will be held on Thursday, February 1st, 1877,

At the various polling places hereafter named.

Mr. J. M. Flannigan has been employed to prepare a list from the Assessment Roll, of the taxpayers residing within the town limits, and will furnish a list of such taxpayers of each ward to each committee. Those who have become taxpayers since the completion of the last assessment roll, will report to Mr. Flannigan, at Judge Gilson,s office, their names, place of residence, and a description of property subject to taxation. Only those who pay taxes on real and personal property will be permitted to vote at this election.

Tickets on which are written or printed the words "Incorporation—Yes," or "Incorporation—No," will be counted for or against incorporation by the committees.

One Trustee is to be elected in the First Ward, two in the Second, and two in the Third.

The person or persons having the highest number of votes, if a citizen and a taxpayer, and resides in the ward in which he is elected, will, providing he will promise to serve, be declared elected. If he refuses to serve the next highest on the list of those voted for, if eligible, shall be declared elected, and if he declines to serve then the Board of Trade will elect some one who will serve to supply the place.

The several Election Committees will immediately, or as soon as practicable after counting the votes, return the tally list, duly certified, to the County Clerk who, with the County Assessor and Recorder, will act as a Committee to canvass and declare the result to the Board of Trade and to the public.

In all other respects the election will be conducted as nearly as practicable, in accordance with the statutes concerning elections.

Taxpayers will bear in mind that this is an informed election and is recommended only for the purpose of obtaining, in the fairest and most direct way, the will of the majority on the subject of incorporation. LEGISLATORS BEWARE. — Several Renoites left for Carson this morning. Among the number were W. R. Chamberlain, A. C. Bragg, H. H. Beck and J. F. Alexander. Mr. R. P. Chapin was to have been a member of the same party, but owing to a slow watch or late breakfast he did not put in his appearance soon enough, and the train cruelly left him behind. He went, however, at noon. We are inclined to think something is in the wind, and admonish innocent Assemblymen and even stately Senators to be on the lookout for jobs. This "slovenly" crowd of third House members have an eye to business, and we believe will make an attempt to repeal the vagrant act. Legislators stand nobly by the State, and don't allow these fellows to get away with the business, or even get in an amendment allowing tramps greater privileges.

PORCH CRUSHED.—The porch of the Depot Hotel met with quite a severe accident about 8 o'clock this morning. A large mass of snow and ice rested on and hung from the roof. This heavy mass became loosened by the light fall of rain this morning and suddenly gave way along the whole length of the roof. As the mass was very heavy and fell a distance of fifteen feet, the porch, which was one of the strongest in town, was broken in a large number of places, but only a few pieces fell on the sidewalk. The damage, we presume, will amount to about $100. Mr. Chamberlain, who was in Carson at the time, was telegraphek to and returned this afternoon. "Who sat down on my hat?"

DISTRICT COURT.—The case of the State vs. Joseph Wilson came up for hearing to-day. Wilson is charged with having stolen a mare from Pete Marker. His trial was by jury, which is deliberating on the matter as we go to press. The jurors which were cited to appear before his Honor Judge Wright this morning were excused until next Friday.

Sentence will be passed on the three Chinamen who were on trial yesterday for grand larceny to-morrow.

Interview with Kelly.

Sunday afternoon we visited Thos. Kelly at the county jail. We found him not wearing a sad face—it indicated rather a mind unsettled, somewhat provoked and tired, resolved on enduring with becoming fortitude the verdict of the jury. Yet there were traces of reflection, and that a struggle had gone on within between many contending thoughts, wishes and fancies. He called up his iron will, doffed, as well as he might, his lassitude and spoke in an indifferently cheerful manner. We had a conversation of some twenty minutes, during which conversation, and in reply to a number of our questions, we obtained the following facts and statements, which we presume will be of interest to our readers:

"I was born at Castle Gregory, Kerry county, Ireland, in the year 1836. I soon went to London where I lived until I was about twelve years old. From thence I went to New York and lived two years. My next trip was to California in the year '50, since which time I have lived in California, Nevada and Utah. I have been in Nevada since '60, living a considerable time at Eureka, where I was for a time constable, and afterwards kept a saloon. I have lived in White Pine, Pioche, Belmont, Austin, Virginia City and Reno. I have lived in several rough places, but do not know that I ever had the name of being a rough man until the late trial. When I was constable and went to arrest a man I always did it, but I never had a difficulty with any man previous to this one with Fagan, except a shooting scrape, or what might be called a street duel, with Samuel Bell, now Deputy Sheriff of Eureka county. In this affair I was justified. I am a man that forms few acquaintances, never drink anything, except in the Summer time a small quantity of beer. I had lived in Reno about seven months previous to the shooting of Fagan. I feel that there was manifested during the trial much prejudice against me, and it's the first time in my life that I ever saw a court room turned into a theatre, and men applaud when a man was on trial for his life. I bear no ill will to any one who took part in the trial. I suppose they all did their duty and I so regard their action. Were I placed under the same circumstances again I would do as I did. It's a little tough on a man, but I suppose, of course, I will have to stand it."

The jailer then led him quietly away to his cell, the great lock was turned, the curtain dropped and he was hid from our view.

Truly the path of the transgressor is hard; but when society has been deeply wronged, it is a maudlin sympathy that would stay the hands of right, justice and mercy.

COOL.—Matt. Parrott, who had eleven pistols stolen from him some time ago, recovered the last one yesterday. A fellow came in and asked him what he would give him for such a pistol Matt. said that he would not give him anything for that pistol, but would keep it until he brought the man who sold it to him. Soon A. came in with B., who had stolen all the pistols, and told Matt that he might have the pistol, saying that an Indian had hid them in a sack, and finding them he had concluded to keep one of them. Matt. thought his coolness a little remarkable, but was very glad to get his pistol back and concluded to let the matter drop. Some man will not be as lenient as Matt., but will try the effect of a little law. One or two years in the State Prison would make some of these fellows sick of petty thieving as a profession.

BOARD OF TRADE.—The Board of Trade meet this evening at the Justice's office. Curtain rises at 7:30. The incorporation in its new bearings will be discussed. This question, which has afforded us many locals, will soon be settled. Let us here correct an error which some have in regard to Thursday's election. On the 24th instant we published the revised Act of Incorporation. This Act has received considerable criticism and some may vote against incorporation because of the defects which they hold to exist in the Act. This Act is subject to many amendments. The election on Thursday is merely to say as to whether we want a town incorporation or not. Let there be a full attendance at the session of the Board this evening.

Jottings.

Mr. J. Branson, who gained an unenviable notoriety in the Larkin case, and who is a lawyer in Virginia City, is in town to-day.

Hon. Thos. Fitch was in town yesterday. He looks as solid as ever, and as though he could make a square speech against the Electoral Compromise bill.

Attention is called to the advertisement "Proposals Wanted," to be found in another column.

Two or three days of steady rain will do away with the sleighing business. It was rather slushy to-day.

The weather is becoming slovenly.

Sleigh-rides may now be enjoyed for less that $5 per hour.

The outer wall of Beck's store is undergoing repairs.

The proposed sleigh-ride to Sierra Valley will not be taken and there are few sanguine about the moonlight ride to Steamboat.

We noticed one of the fair sex attempting to cross a small pool of water on one of our streets. The water was deeper than she anticipated, and after getting about half way across she stopped, as if to consider whether to back out or go ahead. She cast a glance about her and exclaiming, "sink or swim, survive or perish," she hoisted up her petticoat and waded right through.

The tramps who would not work yesterday were allowed to remain in the jail to-day.

Lamb has nine lodgers now. There is no dissatisfaction expressed against the board, lodging or proprietor. May peace reign continually beneath the dome.

Another assessment of one dollar per share has been levied on Savage. This makes the boys all "savage," especially as they paid an assessment of a Carson stovelid per share on the same stock only a short time since. Verily it's going to be a hard winter for the poor—speculator.

We noticed a young man running to prayer meeting last night. With all due regard for the religious zeal which may have prompted the act, we are still willing to bet him a front seat at the races that his girl was inside.

The Police Court was entirely deserted to-day save by the Justice. Everything was so quiet about its quarters that we supposed the Judge dead. He quietly said he had been engaged in a little private business which was not reportable.

The party for the benefit of the Independent Champions of the Red Cross, takes place at the Opera House to-morrow night, and no one who loves the mazy should neglect to be present.

To-morrow evening the Masons have an enjoyable party or social in Masonic Hall. It is the first of a series of sociables to be given every alternate Wednesday evening. We acknowledge the favor of an invitation. Again the press is remembered, and from an appreciable quarter.

Leaky houses are in order to-day. The office of the Reno Water Company was flooded by a leaking roof to the depth of three inches. Several citizens have complained to Mr. Hoyt about the water supply so he thought he would have a reservoir in his bed room.

The festive emigrant was an hour or more behind time to-day. The Conductor said that he wanted to give the homely woman a chance to look at the country, and then again, it might disagree with the small children to rush into a California climate too soon. They should first be acclimatized.

The funeral services of Mrs. L. A. Everett, held this afternoon at the M. E. Church, were very impressive, and a large number of friends mingled their sorrow with that of the husband and relatives of the deceased.

Eleven cars of beef went west this afternoon.

Nabob Sauce at Coggeshall & Co.'s. *

ON THE RAMPAGE.—The "Chief" will regale himself in Carson for a couple of days. Hotel and restaurant proprietors will do well to take a friend's warning and quietly store away roast beef, pudding with hard sauce, French bread and English ale. Legislators will do well to hide their Havanas. Look out for a letter in to-morrow's issue.

Morris & Frankinfield take this method of announcing to their friends and the public in general, that they have opened a new and elegant hair dressing room, on Virginia street, fronting Budden's photograph gallery.
